

Karan Kishorepuria, Director of Fund Development at NUImpact, Northeastern University

Karan Kishorepuria is a recent graduate from Northeastern University.

He has been on the founding team of multiple startups, lead many organizations including NUImpact, one of the 1st Impact Investing Fund's at the undergraduate level in America and a startup incubator challenge. At NUImpact, Karan founded the 1st Northeastern University Sustainable Investing Summit and was responsible for making the funds 1st investment worth $25,000 in a Boston based enterprise called Eatwell.

Previous work experiences include Goldman Sachs, Ratnabali Capital and GMO. He enjoys living holistically, travelling, reading and mentoring young students in his free time.

He has been recognized by Poets and Quants as the 100 Best and Brightest business students in America and by BostonInno in their 25 under 25 list.